

PART – B CHAPTER – 3

POLITICS OF PLANNED DEVELOPMENT

The chapter deals with India's

- Foundation of a plan economy.
- Five years plans.
- NITI Aayog's role in planning.
- Green Revolution.

India inherited a crippled economy from the British Colonial rule and it was a tough task for the newly independent country to develop it. Therefore, the Nehru government followed the path of plan economy and adopt mixed economy where public and private sector co-exist. Green Revolution was adopted to increase the productivity of food grains.
