

PART – B CHAPTER – 7
RISE OF POPULAR MOVEMENT

Popular movements expressed demand of people through agitation. It has reduced the possibility of social conflicts. They represent social groups whose socio-economic grievances have remained unheard and unattended.

Sometimes, popular Movements do intends to destabilise the functioning of government delaying in decision making procedures. However, in India, they have been educative and have broadened the idea of political participation in Indian democracy.

